It is best to buy from a supplier in your region. Buying off-shore might save a couple of bucks upfront but if you need to return something, you will get much better service from a regional supplier.

For instance, a return to China can take 4 months to process assuming the product makes it back to the supplier at all. Typically return costs are not fully covered and USPS does not offer insurance when shipping to some countries. You may be out a little. You may be out a lot. Best to Buy Local.
